EDITORIAL COMMENT.

NATIONAL FRICTION IN THE ORIENT

There is no doubt that the so-called "progressives" in China are acquiring a deep national hatred of the Japanese. That class of Chinese are beginning to feel the emotion which we call patriotism. With them, as with us, it takes the form of claiming the country for its natives. They abhor the official presence of Japanese in Manchuria. The merchants have a deep hatred of the competition of Japanese trade. It cuts into their profits. Hatred of an intruder may be as potent a cause of awakening a patriotic spirit as any other cause. In times past, and perhaps now, Chinese merchants would perhaps be perfectly willing to sell arms and ammunition to Chinese rebels in western China, but it makes their patriotic blood boil to have the Japanese do it. And the Japanese have been doing it, and very likely still are. The arms in the Japanese vessel which was seized were unquestionably intended for the Chinese rebels on the French border. There could have been no other market for them. And the apology and indemnity which was extorted from China for the seizure aroused a national feeling which did not pass with that incident because it was based on a Japanese policy which is permanent—that of pushing Japanese trade into the interior of China and by so much impairing the profits of Chinese in the port cities which have hitherto held it.

That seems to be the reason for the continued boycott on Japanese goods and Japanese ships which Chinese merchants seem determined to maintain. It is not confined to Chinese ports, but exists in Hongkong, which is British territory. Some Chinese merchants located there seemed disposed to abandon the boycott, and as a result had their shops and warehouses looted by a mob which, in China, as everywhere else, is always ready to loot upon any pretext. The British authorities can and will maintain order in Hongkong, but no British or any other authority can compel Chinese merchants to patronize those whom they do not wish to patronize. The boycott is mercantile and derives its force from the determination of Chinese wholesale merchants to retain the monopoly of the trade with the interior of China which they have hitherto enjoyed. And the "progressives" promote it in the interest of a patriotic unity which has not hitherto existed in China.

TIME TO GET BUSY

The election is over now, save for a little shouting and congratulations—like those in other quarters. The election of Taft is the best thing which could have been done for Nevada, so far as financial matters are concerned, and now it is time for us to be doing something. We have been marking time for many months now. First it was the "panic," and then, in the latter months we had to "wait until after election." Now election is over. It is time for Nevada to wake up and make a noise. Eastern capital is coming here, but capital, like a maiden, is coy, demands to be coaxed to go where she intends to go anyway—to be pleased with to do that she most yearns to do. And it is not encouraging to the eastern capitalist to hear that the Nevada is wearing a long face and is sitting, sitting, waiting for things to come to him. That did not use to be the Nevada way. For some months he has been suffering from a sort of jaundice. He has been doing politics, and politics is too dirty for him to thrive on. He has gotten it out of his system now, taken a bath, and will now be himself again. And now it is up to every man, woman and child in the state to get busy, boost Nevada, talk Nevada, write Nevada and assure the world we are not waiting for "good times."

LITTLE CHANGE FROM NEW RATE

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The 2-cent postage rate to Great Britain has not materially increased the amount of mail passing between the two countries, as has been confidently expected would be the case. The rate has now been in effect for a month and the general postoffice reports that there have been no increase in the amount of first-class mail passing between the two countries, except a very slight one in letters addressed to London, Liverpool, Manchester, Glasgow and other big cities in Great Britain. On the other hand there has been a marked increase in the amount of printed matter handled in the mails, although the postage rate on that class of mail has not been changed.

TROOPS DEFEAT THE OUTLAWS OF MINDANAO

MANILA, Nov. 4.—A force of constabulary from the town of Iligan, sent in pursuit of a band of Moros which had been raiding plantations and causing other depredations in the province of Misamis, on Mindanao island, overtook the outlaws, killed the leader and is following the rest of the band, according to a dispatch received here today.

SAFE CRACKERS CAUSED FIRE

SEATTLE (Wash.), Nov. 4.—Fire originating in the grocery store of R. A. Noyes at Port Orchard, and which is believed to have been started by safe crackers, destroyed four frame buildings and one residence and caused damage to the extent of $35,000 last night. The fire was first discovered in the Noyes grocery store about 11 p. m., following a loud report of the discharge of explosives. When the blaze had been extinguished it was discovered that the safe in the Noyes grocery store had been blown open and the strong box looted. It is believed burning powder started the fire.

THE BONANZA'S ELECTION TABLE

The Bonanza today contains the entire county ballot set in tabular form. The precincts from which full, or practically full returns, have been received, have been filled out with the vote as reported to us, and as fast as returns come in they will be added to the table. Keep your eye on it, and when all the returns are in you will have a full and correct tabulation of the vote in Nye county—a table which you should cut out of the paper and file away in your desk for use in settling future discussions as to the 1908 vote.

ENORMOUS MACHINE FOR TUNNELING

Regarding the seven-mile $10,000,000 tunnel which the Southern Pacific is to drive through the Sierras from a point on the westerly side of Summit and emerging somewhere about Cisco, this saving the expense of some thirty miles of haul over heavy grades and that great expense involved in maintaining long line of snowsheds over that distance, the Truckee Republican says:

"When work begins on the great tunnel next spring it will be begun in earnest, and a giant hole will be dug through Mother Earth faster than it has ever been done before, because there is being built a mammoth drill for the Utah Construction company, who hold the contract for building the great hole through the Sierra.

"This machine which is now being built will operate at one time 128 reek drills boring holes in the mountain the size of the completed tunnel. When one set of holes is completed they will be mechanically filled and tamped with giant powder and automatically fired, the drilling machine having meanwhile backed out of harm's way. The method of firing is that some few holes in the center are first exploded, throwing out a section of the rock, when another set of holes will be exploded, keeping it up until the outer rim is reached. All holes, of course, will be drilled with a slant toward the center of the tunnel.

"This, we understand, will be the first machine of its kind to be used, and will considerably lessen the time required to build the tunnel. It is now certain that active operations will begin with the opening of the spring."

GOOD NEWS FROM GOLDEN ARROW MINES

Captain Cotter arrived yesterday from Golden Arrow and reports having made several new strikes on the Cotter Mining company's property there in the past week. Mr. Cotter is very enthusiastic over the showings and in talking of the new developments said:

"Two new ledges were uncovered some days ago in an old shaft about 250 feet east of the main shaft. This shaft was sunk by a leaser and when I examined it I found two ledges that had been passed by. Both ledges were several inches wide at the point where I found them, but after sinking they began to widen. They run parallel with the main ledge and carry a large amount of free gold.

"The main ledge can be traced about 1400 feet on the surface to the west of the shaft. I have prospected repeatedly to the east for the continuation of this ledge, but never could find it until several days ago, when I began trenching and at a depth of several feet I struck it. The discoveries have aroused considerable interest in the camp and last week Capt. A. S. Proskey, the Rawhide mining man, paid the mine a visit, and was astonished at the showings and the work done.

"The main shaft is now down 280 feet. A crosscut will be started immediately and I will drift in the direction of the two ledges, which from indications, should be at least two feet in width at the point where we should strike them."

A NEW PLAY AT THE BUTLER

"An Awful Mixup" at the Butler last night was all that the management promised and more. It is a very comical mixup and the audience certainly received their money's worth. The performers were all up in their parts and never let an opportunity slip by to create a laugh.

"An Awful Mixup" will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night. Saturday the management offers that highly successful comedy "The Oplum Flend," and Mr. Alphin promises the patrons of the Butler theater a run for their money.

MUST GO TO PRISON FOR ILLEGAL LAND DEAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The supreme court of the United States has denied the petition of Willard N. Jones and Thaddeus S. Potter for a writ of review. Jones and Potter, who are residents of Oregon, were sentenced to imprisonment on the charge of defrauding the government by the illegal entry in that state of lands under the homestead law. The charge against them was that of conspiracy, but they pleaded the statute of limitations.

The decision of the circuit court of appeals for the ninth circuit was against them and in refusing to review the case the supreme court practically affirmed that finding.

YOUNG LADY STOPPING AT WILSON HOME

It is rumored that no one in the city of Tonopah will be presented with a gas bill this month, all owing to the fact that Worth W. Wilson, the popular manager of the Nevada Gas company, drew such a prize package Wednesday, November 4, that he wants to give something to everybody else. The drawing of the prize package was not altogether unexpected, but that did not a bit lessen the pleasure with which Mr. Wilson heard the announcement of the doctor. "It's a girl, and it looks like its father," W. W. was wearing the smile which doesn't fade last evening, and wife and babe were doing well.

RHYOLITE MILL TO BE ENLARGED

RHYOLITE, Nov. 4.—The Montgomery Shoshone mill at Rhyolite will be enlarged, probably within thirty days by the addition of a six-foot Chilian mill and a tube mill. This will enable the mill to treat the highest grade ore in the mine and the heavy cost of shipping a carload of concentrates to the smelter will be saved. The cyanide process will be used.

It is expected that the tonnage of the Montgomery Shoshone for October will reach 4400 and the bullion output for the month will be the largest yet recorded. There are fully 500 tons of the ore broken in the original "glory hole," and over 2000 tons in a stope extending eastwardly from the "glory hole" proper. The total amount of ore broken is estimated at 11,000 tons. Two men with single jacks and one man with a machine drill are working here.

Only six men on the average are required to get out enough ore to keep the mill running to its full capacity. It is said that sometimes 100 tons is broken down in stopping during one shift. These facts prove it one of the most cheaply worked mines in the country. A raise has been started from the 600 level to the 500 to provide better ventilation, and active development work is being prosecuted on the 200, 300 and 400 levels.

O'Meara, for Silver Peak to examine the Silver Peak Valcaldia mining property, of which the control has passed from the hands of the O'Meara brothers to Mr. Newhouse.

It is the intention of the Newhouse people to greatly enlarge the capacity of the mill and also place a larger force of men at work in order to thoroughly develop the entire property.
